A Desire To Serve

By Robert E. Finneran
Managing Editor

A night school education should prepare any man to be a selectman, in view of the countless nocturnal hours spent on Andover's town business.

Coupled with forming and steering a multi-million dollar corporation from scratch, should make for a good member of the town's top policy making board.

These attributes belong to Milton Greenberg, recently elected and Andover's freshman selectman.

Mr. Greenberg, coming back this year after having been defeated for the same office a year ago, feels he "should do my share for the town and for the country which has been good to me."

Disappointed a year ago when he lost out in his initial bid for public office, Greenberg licked his wounds, so to speak -- "no-body likes to lose" -- and came back strong this year.

It was an easy decision in the final analysis.

"I enjoy the town, I like people and the general approaches to town government," Greenberg states. "My country has been good to me and I feel I have an obligation to return the service to those who have been good to me."

Born in Carteret, New Jersey, he has been a resident of Andover for the past six years. Prior to that, he resided in Belmont for 17 years.

"I've been working since I was 15 years of age, and I appreciate what has been gained," the new selectman notes.

A veteran of World War II, he

Meeting Resumes Tonight

Town meeting moves into a fourth session at Memorial Auditorium tonight to continue action on a 79 article warrant, of which 27 articles have been acted upon.

Townpeople, in fewer numbers than at previous sessions, finally approved the municipal - school budget last Saturday.

In so doing, the voters saved $1 of a proposed $4 increase in the tax rate by chopping over $200,000 from the budget, mostly in the school department.

The final budget figure agreed upon totalled $13,221,336.

The meeting was delayed in getting underway as officials waited for a quorum which was finally attained at about 10:40 a.m. Saturday, 40 minutes after the scheduled resumption of the meeting.

It was adjourned shortly after 4:30 p.m. to the Thursday date, since officials feel another session may be necessary before completing the warrant. If a fifth session is required, it is expected to be held Monday at 7:30 p.m.

The meeting turned down several streets for acceptance, due principally to the requirement of a pumping station needed for sewer lines in the area which would be maintained by the town following acceptance.

The planning board and selectmen had approved the laying out and accepting of the streets, but the voters refused to allow them to become streets.

The roads effected are: Landau Lane, Phaeton Circle, Hackney Circle, and Bridle Path Road.

Two other streets failed acceptance and were withdrawn when

Officials In Quandry On School Addition

Officials are meeting today with the architect for the Doherty school addition to decide the future of the project.

The proposed addition is in the town meeting warrant at a total project cost of $1,900,500. Bids received last week far exceed the budgeted amount.

The town manager and building committee have asked Architect Frank Crimp to review the proposals and see if possibly the project can be trimmed to meet the figure.

There has been some discussion of postponing action to a special town meeting. This will be among the topics under discussion today.

Meanwhile, school officials continue to emphasize the need for additional classroom space.

Dr. Kenneth R. Seifert, superintendent of schools, said this week, that the schools are at capacity already.

The fact that birth rates can actually gauge school enrollment is a misconception, he states.

Dr. Seifert stated he has figures which he will present to town meeting to prove the point, noting the recorded births in Andover and the actual kindergarten enrollment five years later. The latter figure will be higher than the birth rate, according to statistical information.

Another factor to be considered, Dr. Seifert feels is the present cost of transporting youngsters from South, Doherty and Shawshreen to the West school, because of overcrowded conditions. The youngsters involved are sixth graders.

Noting the economy factor, Dr. Seifert feels that this consideration is important in view of 950 youngsters from Andover now attending private schools.

He questions with the economic factor, unemployment, etc., what would happen if the financial pinch necessitates taking the youngsters out of private schools and placing them in the public system.

The superintendent has figures to show that the number of Andover youngsters attending private schools over the past five years has decreased while those attending public schools has increased.

Public school enrollment has increased steadily over the past 25 years, Dr. Seifert points out.

In noting the figures, the superintendent stated that the town had not kept pace with the population in town with its school buildings.

School Committee Chairman William King, in support of the Doherty addition points out:

"Most long range plans are obsolete by the time they are published. The current policy guiding the requests of the school committee for new construction evolved from changing considerations in educational policy as well as financial considerations relating to the development of the town. In the early sixties, the expanding population was handled by increasing the number of 500 to 600 pupil elementary schools. Various school committees re-

A Cleaner Andover Is Their Goal

A cleaner Andover is the goal of several local people planning for Earth Day, April 17.

There will be barrels appropriately stenciled for the deposit of litter and 1,000 bags will be made available for residents to carry to pick up litter for deposit in the barrels.

Mrs. Samuel Rogers, who has more or less spearheaded the drive for a cleaner community, and in fact, for the cleanest community in America, feels that the efforts result in a "game everyone can play."

She presented her proposal to the Ecology committee of the Andover Chamber of Commerce which is in complete support.

The bags will be sold throughout the town. The small canvas type containers, with stencilled motto, may be carried daily and used for the pickup of litter.

Many citizens have volunteered to take and maintain barrels.

Hopefully groups will join in the effort, such as Boy Scouts, Girl Scouts, civic and fraternal organizations.

Buttons have been produced by George Bixby.

Mrs. Peter McKee is treasurer of the sponsoring organization.

Mrs. Frances Hughes is chairman of locating the barrels around the town. Eugene A. Bernardin has provided painting headquarters for the barrels and Jerome Cross is in charge of distribution. Any of them can be contacted for a barrel.

Melvin Weiner has provided 50 50-gallon drums for use.

The Andover Garden club, along with other local garden clubs will participate in the program.

It is hoped that the groups may volunteer to clean up around the dump on Earth Day

Parochial School To Remain Open

St. Augustine's school, providing elementary education to 418 pupils, will not be closing soon, "as long as the parishioners who started it and have maintained it continue their generosity," according to Very Rev. Kenneth J. Kennedy, O.S.A., pastor of the parish.

With threatened and impending closings of parochial schools in not only this area but throughout the state, Father Kennedy was asked this week about the status of the local private, parochial school.

Problems with parochial schools stem from financial difficulties as well as the lack of young people seeking vocations. Sisters of the Notre Dame de Namur order staff the local school. Nuns from other orders and this are staffing schools in the Greater Lawrence area.

Father Kennedy stated this week that St. Augustine's is "doing pretty well," and that the prospects for the 1971-'72 school year seem bright.

The pastor noted that the parishioners have been generous in their support of the school and through this generosity, it would appear the school will continue in operation.

Shawsheen Dormitory Use Approved

Bryant - McIntosh College of Lawrence has been given a lodging house license from the selectmen to operate the former Parker House inn as a dormitory.

The decision came Monday night as the board ended months of discussion concerning the subject.

The college agreed to several stipulations placed in a covenant regarding use of the building as a dormitory.

Among the agreements was that the college would pay taxes to the town.

Noise abatement was another condition and that no expansion of the facilities would be allowed.

Abutters of the property again opposed the issuance of a license.

Selectman Milton Greenberg moved for the permit and Selectmen George E. Heseltine and Sidney P. White approved. Select-

Staff

This series of profiles on the library staff has shown us to have varied hobbies and interests, but none at the Memorial Hall Library has a more unique hobby than Kim Angelora. She is a horsewoman, par excellence, owner of one pure-bred Arabian gelding, shown in the snap-shot with her, and trainer of another Arabian mare now on lease. In her spare time Kim can be found in the barn with her horses or out riding in the countryside of North Andover. The Angeloras live in North Andover, where her husband Tom is a free-lance photographer. In the summertime the two cover the horse-show circuit together, Tom with his camera and Kim on a horse.

Mrs. Angelora received her B.A. degree in 1967 from Marietta College in Ohio, earning it in English and German. During college days she published poetry in the college magazine and at graduation she received the Emerson prize for poetry. She has not finished her education by any means, and is now completing work on a Master's degree in English from Lehigh Univ. in Pa. Her thesis is on Ralph Waldo Emerson.

Since marriage two years ago Kim has been employed as a substitute teacher in the North Andover High School before coming to Memorial Hall Library last fall. She has been working as a Reference Librarian, but many additional tasks have been turned over to her. She helps in the Cataloging Dept. and assists in the ordering of new books. One new assignment she has gladly undertaken has been the writing of an inter-office newsletter. This will keep the staff informed about each other's work and programs for the future. But if you are looking for Kim outside of work time, you'll have to get a horse.

Ecology

April is Ecology Month and your library is deeply involved in the business of making you aware of your relationship to your environment. Just as one of our popular books on diet says "You are what you eat" so also is it true that "You are how you live." Memorial Hall Library is cooperating to the greatest degree possible with Andover Ecology Action and with all conservation and ecology groups in the Greater Lawrence area to make sure the environmental issues are made available to all the people. One program we have been working on is the compiling of a book-list of important books available for the instruction of children and young people in nature-life, conservation, pollution, and ecology. A committee of teachers, parents, and librarians has been at work on this project, and after many weeks of meetings the brochure will be released on March 31 for the benefit of any teacher in Lawrence, Methuen, North Andover and Andover. It will be available to parents and interested citizens through the public libraries in these same towns. As an added feature and helpful guide to you during Ecology Month there is a calendar of April printed on the outside of the brochure with every ecology event to be held during the month. You will want to have the calendar as a reminder of meetings, films, Earth Day activities, and you will want it to fill in your additional engagements as they are announced. It is the hope of this Greater Lawrence Committee working for better education in the field of ecology and the greatest possible publicity for the known facts and issues in print that every person in the Greater Lawrence area will do one thing every day in April to make this place where we live a better and more beautiful spot.

Contest

Telephone calls from North Andover and Lawrence students indicate that our neighbors are hard at work taking pictures with an ecological or conservation theme. Remember to enter all pictures for the contest by April 10 at Memorial Hall Library.

Fashion Show Planned By Sorority

The Exemplar Xi Sigma Chapter of the Beta Sigma Phi Sorority held its March meeting at the home of Mrs. George Ainscow, 59 Lovejoy Road.

Plans were discussed for the annual Founders Day Dinner to be held on April 27.

Arrangements for the showing of fashions in late September (to benefit the Heart Fund) are well underway.

The election of officers for the forthcoming year was held with the following results:

President, Mrs. Frank Simons; vice president, Mrs. John Mathews; secretary, Mrs. Robert Pelrine; corresponding secretary, Mrs. Donald Griffin; treasurer, Mrs. Richard White.

All the new officers are from Andover, except for Mrs. John Mathews, who resides in Salem, N.H.

Family Night To Be Held At Church

A Family Night will be held at Faith Lutheran Church in Andover this Sunday evening at 6 p.m. The theme for the evening will be a "Pennsylvania Dutch Treat." The program will feature a presentation by Mr. and Mrs. Allan Dow in which they share thoughts on the customs of the Pennsylvania Dutch. Highlight of the evening is a reading of "Paul Revere's Ride" as it would be recited by an Amish schoolboy.

Preceding the program, supper will be shared together by members of the congregation. A Pennsylvania Dutch motif will prevail throughout as members have been asked to bring various types of Pennsylvania Dutch food. Shoo-fly pies have been sent north especially for the occasion.

Coordinating the food arrangements are Nancy Clendaniel, chairman, and Pat Myrom of Andover; Bobbi Clayton of West Roxford; and Paula Amaditz of North Andover.

To Participate In Service At Temple

On Friday evening, March 26, Temple Emanuel of the Merrimack Valley, 101 West Forest St., Lowell, will participate at a joint service of the New England Council of the Union of American Hebrew Congregations to be held at Temple Ohabei Shalom, Beacon St., Brookline, at 8:30 p.m.

Congregations from all over New England will be represented and Rabbi S. Daniel Breslauer of Temple Emanuel will represent the Temple membership from all over the Merrimack Valley. The service will be a memorial to Dr. Nelson Glueck, late president of the Hebrew Union College-Jewish Institute of Religion.

Many Americans may remember Dr. Glueck as the man who gave the benediction at the inauguration of President John F. Kennedy in January 1961. Among the many professional societies to which he belonged were: The American Academy of Arts and Sciences, and the Central Conference of American Rabbis. He held honorary degrees from eighteen colleges and universities. His life is best exemplified by a quotation from one of his books, "Out of the era of earliest antiquity appeared men striving blindly for better things, building bravely, wrecking frenziedly, disappearing into darkness, and reaching out again towards light and progress." Dr. Glueck's most popular books are "The Other Side of the Jordan," "Rivers of the Desert" and "Deities and Dolphins."

In view of the fact that services will not be held on that evening at Temple Emanuel, the entire membership, as well as the community at large, is invited to attend the services at Temple Ohabei Shalom.

apparent that additional elementary space would be needed, changes in elementary teaching techniques were evolving. It was becoming clear that the equivalent of 5 rooms per grade level was preferable to the more customary three. This change permits greater specialization of the teachers and also reduces the administrative cost burden.

"A logical site for this school was thought to be in West Andover at the Cross St. - High Plain Road parcel owned by the town. Early exploration with other townboards revealed, however, that there would be many problems in developing the site, not the least of which was the fact that school construction in this area would stimulate home construction and would probably result in a further expansion of the elementary building program.

Consequently, the project was abandoned in favor of an addition to the West elementary school. It was during the consideration of this project that the "update and add" concept currently being pursued was developed. Since the elementary buildings of recent construction were similar and in relatively good condition, a consultant was hired to test the reasonableness of the idea that it would be economically feasible to accommodate additional children in additions to these buildings while simultaneously improving the educational capabilities of the combined facility. Mr. Frank Crimp of Crimp Fisher and Brown conducted the study of the elementary schools suggested for improvement and concluded that the basic plan followed at the West Elementary School was applicable to the South, Central and Sanborn Schools, with the reservation that the school system probably would need to have control of the outdoor athletic facility. He also recommended that any available land adjacent to the South and Sanborn sites be acquired by the town.

In pursuit of this long-range program, land has been purchased by the town at the two sites where it was available. The Town Meeting voted to transfer control of the Playstead to the school department and the proposed addition to the Doherty School is currently under consideration. The additional space made available by this project, will have beneficial effects throughout the elementary system. The sixth grade students temporarily housed at West will be able to return to their own schools. The West school will be restored to a more normal population distribution.

Union wage rates for local truck-driver and helpers in cities of 100,000 inhabitants or more averaged $4.36 an hour on July 1, 1970 -- up 10 percent, or 40 cents over the previous year -- according to an annual survey by the Labor Department's Bureau of Labor Statistics.

GREENBERG

had a "lot of honors given me by my country. I'm proud of them and feel I should do something in return."

His education as mentioned previously, was through attending night school, including his graduate work.

Several years ago he formed the GCA corporation in Bedford. Through his business and technical experience, he has nursed the corporation which does research and development of urban pollution problems as well as the manufacture and design of scientific and technical equipment into a business now listed on the so-called "big board," or the stock market.

As a selectman, he hopes to make town government more effective and efficient.

He feels there are long term objectives to be planned for the town, and that the town government and operations should be patterned with those objectives in mind.

"I hope to make the board of selectmen a leadership board, dealing with controversial issues where necessary and giving the direction which the town needs."

"I ran on my record, rather than opposing anyone."

He does not intend to gain experience before speaking out.

"I will speak my piece where necessary, both at selectmen's meetings and at town meeting."

"My comments will be based on principles. When I feel something is right or wrong, I'll be heard."

Such was the case at his first meeting when he spoke against a proposed rezoning of land off Haverhill street for professional offices. He intends to continue his opposition, "because I think I'm right."

Greenberg will also bring to the board some of his business experience, gained through the 12 year growth of the company he serves as president.

There is little doubt that Milton Greenberg will be doing his homework.

In the short time he has been in office, he has been heard from by colleagues and townspeople alike.

He is prepared.

A loose-leaf binder contains not only the notes of recent meetings, but the history of past events.

And, he takes shorthand to be sure he has all the notes necessary for present and future decisions.

Little doubt, Milton Greenberg intends to do his job -- and have the facts before making a decision. Night school didn't hurt a bit as far as training for this job is concerned.

ST. AUGUSTINE'S

He was optimistic in view of the school's lay teacher-nun ratio, which is higher than surrounding schools.

At present, there are seven lay teachers at the school, with 11 nuns. Next year, the ratio may be eight lay teachers with an equal amount of religious.

Tuition costs, $100 per year, do not meet the expenses of the school, Father Kennedy explained, noting once again that it is through parishioners that the costs are met.

As for the problem of new vocations, Father Kennedy said this would not be known until the end of the month. How many new nuns will be available for assignment is a question which will be answered at that time.

But prospects for St. Augustine's appear to be on the bright side as for a continued educational institution, something which many communities in the area are facing in a less optimistic view.

DORMITORY

man Roger W. Collins was in opposition, maintaining that his mind had not changed on use of the building as a dormitory since it was initially presented last spring.

Chairman Robert A. Watters refrained from voting, stating he felt it would be in conflict of interest since he is on the board at a local bank through which the college is doing business.

REAL ESTATE CORNER

by Marjorie C. Kidd

LISTING

Have you offered your property for sale to a Realtor? He can list it for purchase in several ways.

An "Open" listing gives many Realtors the right to sell your real estate. You retain the right to sell this property yourself if you wish. There are many pros and cons to this arrangement.

Most Realtors prefer an "exclusive right to sell" type of listing. The time limit placed on this listing can spur more effort to find a buyer. As sole agent the Realtor is obliged to advertise more and to do all he can to bring this transaction to a successful conclusion.

If your Realtor is a member, he can place the "exclusive" listing on the multiple listing exchange. This enables all members to direct their prospective buyers to your real estate. A faster sale can be the result.

Stuck with the burden of selling your home? We can replace that burden with a qualified buyer! Consult JAMES T. TREFREY, REALTOR, where residential real estate is our specialty and we have over 30 years of experience. And remember, a qualified staff member is always on hand to serve you. Chapter 90 highway construction. The selectmen had inserted the $80,000 amount but the Finance Committee wanted the figure to be $62,000.

Selectman Sidney P. White asked the meeting for the larger amount pointing out that if state funds were available, additional streets could be repaired and rebuilt.

When the matter came up for a vote, Moderator Arthur Williams explained that he would take a vote on the $80,000 figure, despite an amendment on the floor for the lower amount.

He also said that an additional vote would be required since a two-thirds vote would be necessary.

After considerable confusion, the voters finally by a vote of 356-15, approved the $80,000.

It was not a good day for the Finance Committee, as they lost out on a couple of items dealing with funds for the sanitary disposal site.

The first dealt with appropriating $40,000 to improve the drainage around the dump. It was argued for some time before final approval, but the FinCom stipulation that no funds be expended without their consultation and advice was not included in the motion.

Voters approved $34,000 for the dump to rent a chipper for stumps, trees and lumber, as well as providing fill for compaction and burying of refuse at the site.

Also approved, over FinCom objections was $45,000 for engineering work and planning for a new dump site.

The present site has about a year left, according to officials and a new site must be obtained.

The plans must be submitted to the state for approval before a new site can be used.

The proposed site, one of four under consideration, is in Lowell Junction.

Withdrawn at the Saturday session was an article asking consideration of a representative form of town meeting.

Gerald Silverman, proponent, said that the article was illegally before the meeting since it requires a decision by ballot.

He asked permission to explain his views after the final article in the warrant, noting he had inserted it in order to have it discussed in open forum, rather than having it on the ballot, without discussion.

Among major items still to be considered are the addition to the Doherty school, funds for the water treatment plant and a bylaw banning non-returnable bottles, all of which are expected to be controversial.

Black apprentices number more than 11,000 in programs registered directly with the Labor Department.

Photographer To Lecture

ton, will present a film talk "Wine Lands of France" on Thursday, March 25, at 8 p.m. in the Bryant McIntosh Junior College Residence Hall, Andover.

The junior college's hotel-restaurant administration students are sponsoring Mrs. Ley's appearance as part of their studies in becoming familiar with the serving of European wines for hotel-restaurant use.

Mrs. Ley has made more films on the subject of wine than anyone else in either Europe or America and her reputation is international.

Her color film about the famous vineyards of France was made while she was house guest of counts and countesses at their chateaux in the various wine regions of France. The film ranges from the harvesting of the grapes, through banqueting and includes the world's most famous annual wine auction at the medieval Hospices de Beaune, as well as the families behind some of France's legendary labels.

The rivers, shaded by woods and fed by these springs, are almost uniform in volume, temperature and chemical composition. Their courses change gradually so that they carry almost no sand or silt to fill up their outlets, the Massachusetts Audubon Society points out.

SPRING CLEANING. The street sweeper began its rounds of spring cleanup this past week. Here, the sweeper cleans up the parking lot in back of town hall.

Telephone Expansion Underway

New England Telephone construction work, now underway in the southwest section of Andover, is part of a project to meet the expanding service needs in this rapidly growing industrial and residential area.

Local telephone manager Charles Papalia said the $64,000 project -- including both cable and conduit -- was triggered by 13 developments in the area totaling 474 units, which are in various stages of completion.

Before cable could be installed, the company had to add almost 1,000 feet of conduit -- tubing through which cable can be pulled -- along Central St.

Crews now have started placing more than two and one half miles of cable from the Andover central office, along Central and Andover Sts. to Dascomb Road.

The entire project is expected to be completed by the end of the year.

Personnel Changes In Schools

The impending retirement of Mrs. Marjorie Jones, Grade 1 teacher at the Central and Doherty School since 1950, was accepted with deep regret by the school committee last week. Mrs. Jones' retirement is effective at the end of this school year.

The committee also approved other personnel changes, including resignations and appointments. Mrs. Robert Cianci, a West Jr. High science teacher on leave of absence, has resigned, as well as Mrs. Eleanor McDowell, a teacher aide at West Elementary School and Mrs. Blair Woodman, teacher aide at East Jr. High. East Jr. High teacher Lowell Canovitch has resigned from his coaching duties as assistant track coach for the spring term.

Appointed to positions in the school system are Mrs. Christa Jessico, permanent substitute in English at East Jr. High, at $7400, William Drummond, as high school Phys. ed. and athletic business manager, at $2000 a year, and Howard Tozier, of East Jr. High as a Saturday recreational instructor, at $5 an hour.

Andover All-Stars In Finals

The Andover YMCA Junior Division All-Stars who have been competing in the Greater Boston Tournament (for boys 12 years old) for the past two weeks have fought their way to the finals out of the 17 teams in the tournament.

In the first game played on March 14, the Andover Stars romped over the Immaculate Conception of Cambridge 34-18 as 11 of the 15 players for Andover got in the scoring column. In that game Jay Doherty's 7 points and Labeeb Abboud's 5 points were tops for Andover.

In the second game played on March 20, last Saturday, the Andover Stars played the tournament's defending championship team, St. Josephs of Somerville. The Andover Stars got off to a poor start, and at one point were most midway through the second quarter they were down by 11 points 16-5. But then the Andover Stars found the range with some fine shooting by Bob MacMackin, Jay Doherty, Richard Rosetti and Labeeb Abboud to pull into a tie at 16-16 at the half-time break. The teams battled on even terms in the third quarter with Andover taking the lead 26-23, going into the final quarter. St. Josephs came back and tied the game up with 24 seconds left on the clock. St. Josephs then retained the ball after a missed field goal try by Andover, and tried to run the clock out for a final shot, but Dan Billings of the Andover team stole the ball and drove the length of the court only to miss the layup, but Andover's Capt. Jay Doherty followed the play and got the rebound to score the winning bucket with only 7 seconds left in the game for a 31-29 victory. Jay Doherty led the scoring with 13 points, Bob MacMackin 10, Rich Rosetti 4.

In the third game of the semifinals played Sunday, the Andover Stars again came through in the clutch in the most dramatic game of the tournament. This time the Andover Stars played East Somerville. The Andover team scored the first 2 points on a bucket by Richard Rosetti, but then trailed the rest of the game in a nip and tuck game, until with 1:28 left in the game and Andover down by 7 points 24-17, Andover's Coach Frank Monette came up with some strategy that paid off, and reeled off 4 quick points, on buckets by Labeeb Abboud and Richard Rosetti, as the score showed 24-21. Richard Rosetti then connected on a clutch free-throw with 31 seconds left to close the score to 24-22. Andover's Dan Billings then again pulled his John Havlicek act by stealing a pass as he had done the day before, only to get fouled before he could score. The free-throw attempt was missed, but Andover retained the ball out of bounds. A play was then set up to get the ball to Andover's center Jay Doherty with 14 seconds left on the clock. Doherty got the ball and drove through three opposing players and scored the tying basket, making the score 24-24.

After East Somerville missed their next attempt, they pressed Andover, but a Bob MacMackin to Dan Billings to Jay Doherty pass that reached Doherty at the half-court line proved to be fatal for East Somerville, as Doherty drove past the Somerville defender to score with 7 seconds left in the game, to put Andover in the finals with a come-from-behind 26-24 victory.

Capt. Jay Doherty, who Coach Monette had sit out the entire third quarter because of foul trouble, still managed to score 10 points, as Labeeb Abboud swished in some fine outside shooting for 6 points, and Capt. Richard Rosetti and Andover's top rebounder Bob MacMackin each scored 5 points. Mark Shonis also chipped in with some fine rebounding as Dan Billings and Fred Rau played a fine all-around ball game. Other players who have seen action for Andover are Jay Martha, Scott Hammar, Paul VanSacken, Dave Mirisola, Brian Twomey, George Bragdon, Jim Morin and Brian McGann. Those helping in the coaching duties are Frank Monette, Charles Conlon, Ed McGann and Jim Morin.

The finals will be played at 8 p.m. Saturday night at the Somerville High School gym. In the finals for the Greater Boston Championship, Andover will meet Immaculate Conception of Somerville.

People wishing to support the Andover team by accompanying the team to Somerville to root for them, may do so by meeting at the Andover YMCA Saturday at 6:30 p.m.

Record Tax Bill

Officials of the New England Electric System today announced that its total property tax bill for 1970 was a staggering $38.9 million -- an increase of $4.7 million (13.7 percent) over 1969. Unlike other industries, electric companies pay taxes on "personal property" at the local property tax rate.

New England Electric System is the parent of Massachusetts Electric Company, New England Power Company, New England Power Service Company, Narragansett Electric Company, Granite State Electric Company and the New England Gas System (comprised of eight retail gas companies formerly called New England Electric System Gas Division).

New England Electric pays property taxes in 341 cities and towns in four states: Massachusetts, Rhode Island, New Hampshire and Vermont. As in the past, the largest amount of taxes went to the 210 communities in the Commonwealth of Massachusetts. To them the Massachusetts Electric Company, New England Power Company and the eight system gas companies paid a total of $30.1 million -- $4.4 million (17.1 percent) more than the previous year.

Music To Our Ears

By Edward P. Grigoli

James Price Johnson who is affectionately known as the "grandfather of hot piano" learned to play by studying under excellent teachers.

He later developed a blues style by playing professionally around clubs in the city of New York.

His music training included classical harmony and composition. This led him into the field of revue which brought him to England and the continent on a tour with a show called "Plantation Days."

When he returned he devoted much time in writing music for Ziegfeld and composing melodies such as "I Can't Give You Anything But Love" and "Runnin' Wild."

Ragtime has a strong influence on the style of Johnson. Stomping variations of rags, known as "shouts" were show-pieces often used in "cutting contests" in which he participated with such names as Tom Waller and Duke Ellington, all taking their turns at the piano until dawn.

Of course, James P. Johnson was the one who helped foster and mold the style of his protege, the great "Fats" Waller.

He also appeared in movie shorts which included "Yamacraw" featuring "Bessie Smith," for which he wrote the score.

Some of his concert compositions included a tone poem and Symphony Harlem presented as ballet music.

While many customs and fashions have undergone changes over the years, the use of flowers at funerals has endured. Evidence of floral tributes have been found in excavated tombs dating as far back as ancient Egypt.

Editorial Comment

Not Now

One of the major items still to be acted on by town meeting is the proposed addition to the Central school, renamed last year in honor of William A. Doherty, former long time member of the school committee.

Last summer, architects estimated that the total construction cost would be $1,900,500. Last week the bids were opened and to the sorrow of all concerned, the costs were nearly a half million dollars in excess of the estimate.

It is no surprise to any normal consumer to realize the increased cost of materials. Neither is it a surprise to anyone to realize the high cost of labor and services performed by contractors, painters, plumbers, electricians, etc.

Thus the high cost of new construction.

Because of the large sums of money involved, some people question the feasibility of construction of a new school, or addition, at this time.

Clearly a wait and see policy might be advisable.

Relief from rising taxes is one consideration.

A change in the fluctuating interest rates, preferably, as at present, a downward trend, is another thought to consider.

A change in state assistance toward new school construction, with an increased amount to be given to local towns, is another important item.

Also to be considered, is the lack of an enthusiastic attitude by the Finance Committee toward the project.

The FinCom has dictated that the school addition be built within the specified amount - a qualification difficult to meet.

The school would not be operational if the prescribed amount in the warrant were allowed. Equipment needs could not be met without additional town meeting action.

The Decision

The selectmen finally brought to conclusion this week, the long standing controversy of whether or not the former Shawsheen Inn could be used as dormitory.

Their approval to allow such use by Bryant-McIntosh college of Lawrence would seem to be appropriate.

Sufficient safeguards were built into the covenant allowing the building to be used as a dormitory, in the board's decision.

While neighbors may object to its use as such, sufficient precautions seem to have been adopted and agreed to by the college so as to properly protect the abutters.

It has been noted that no trouble has been reported to police concerning the operation of the former inn since last September.

Student unrest, most assuredly was of concern to the neighbors.

But, the college assured that proper supervision would be provided at all times.

The school has also pledged to make tax payments to the town, a heartening outlook.

In essence, while the neighbors may seem a little resentful, it would appear the decision of the selectmen was in the best interests of the town.

The granting of the license is, of course subject to review by the board, thus further safeguards are provided.

Noise

The selectmen this week issued a mandate to abate noise from motorcycles.

The suggestion is a good one.

There is nothing more disturbing during evenings, or anytime for that matter, than the noise from a passing cycle or other unmuffled vehicle.

The board has asked the police department to enforce the regulations as prescribed in the statutes with regard providing proper mufflers on vehicles.

They also asked that residents of the community cooperate by reporting violators.

In addition, the board asked that persons littering our highways be also prosecuted.

Both suggestions are well founded and can only improve Andover, its atmosphere and its appearance.

We urge co-operation.

Because of the economy-minded mood of town meeting, we believe the school committee and building committee will be facing an uphill battle in trying to sell the school addition.

A two-thirds vote would be needed, not simply a majority vote.

We would recommend the school department explain the school building goals for the next five years to the meeting.

It would seem appropriate that a town meeting teach-in on school needs preceding the school committee withdrawal of the article would be beneficial.

It may seem a shame to forfeit the $92,000 in architectural fees, but possibly it is a lesson for all. Possibly the plans may be used at a later date.

Withdrawal of Article 70, the school addition, seems in order.

The times are not the best for the project, town meeting clamors for austerity, the bids are excessive and the FinCom has given lukewarm endorsement.

The residents of Andover have traditionally been generous toward their school system.

The attitude now appears to be for relief.

The message appears to be we have helped in the past and we will in the future, but for a year, give us a chance to catch our breath.

No major expenditures for schools this year seems to be the plea of the average taxpayer.

His voice should be heard.

Time is a great healer.

School administration withdrawal of the article could go a long way toward improving public attitude toward the school department.

What Our Readers Say

To the Editor of the TOWNSMAN:

The adjourning of Town Meeting last Saturday to Thursday night cannot occur without my protest.

There are many of us who faithfully and regularly attend Town Meeting, who take time to be informed on issues, who listen to argument thoughtfully, concerned townspeople who feel very keenly the responsibility and privilege of our democratic processes. Concerned people are also busy people who must plan and schedule their activities in order to serve fully.

But why must faithful attendance at Town Meeting be made doubly difficult by whimsical scheduling? We were told to expect sessions Monday evenings. Many of us planned accordingly. At 4:30 Saturday afternoon we're told, "Not Monday - this time it'll be Thursday." OK - Thursday, Saturday - whenever - but for the sake of our town cannot we have some semblance of order in the scheduling? It would seem obvious that we shall not finish the warrant Thursday. When will the next session be - Monday, Thursday, Tuesday, Saturday? I appreciate that it is difficult to anticipate how long a town meeting may last, but a tentative schedule is not unreasonable.

To the Editor of the TOWNSMAN:

I write to you to attempt to clarify some of the misconceptions about education in Andover at the present time.

Perhaps the wild, liberal High School should come first. The understandable distrust and fear of many people of my generation toward long-haired rioting youth has somehow been equated with Andover High School. I would like to remind people that the current generation of dissatisfied youth did not come from schools where self motivation and self discipline had been coveted and worked toward, but from the "old" system. Traditional, irrelevant courses, lecture method, rules for the sake of rules have produced frustration in our young. It has been the hope of the Andover School Committee to help to produce a generation of young people who begin learning their own strengths and capacities in the first grade and proceed through school, learning about this world as well as the past, taking part in the democratic process so that when adults they might continue to do so and gaining satisfaction from their education rather than frustration.

I would talk a little about cost. The two factors which increase the school budget each year are inflation and increased enrollment. Neither of these are under the control of the Andover School Committee despite their great power and autonomy. Teachers have received a bare cost of living increase over the last five or six years. Oil, electricity, bus contracts, the price of books -- all have risen in cost. And the students have continued to pour in -- almost 300 new ones each year. With that many new students more rooms are needed, more books, more teachers, all at the inflated price.

School buildings have come in for their share of criticism. The School Committee is blamed if buildings are not ready when they are needed; blamed for the lack of long range plans, yet when long range plans are presented and planning funds requested, the School Committee is blamed for the expense of these buildings and asked why they didn't anticipate and build these rooms years ago when they cost less.

The School Committee solution to inadequate buildings and expansion needs has been to upgrade and add to existing buildings. This is by far the most economical solution. No additional land need be acquired; there are fewer difficulties with water, roads and sewers than building on a new site; often existing heating plants and other facilities can be used. That is original construction cost. Maintenance and educational cost which are the long term bills are more efficient too. Better use can be made of libraries, science equipment, special teachers, audio visual programs, with more students under one roof.

The public says buildings are

Off The Top Of The Desk

Signs of the times!

Spring cleaning time brings out the street sweeper, seen this week operating over several of the town streets.

It never ceases to amaze people the amount of sand and other debris picked up by the machine as it makes it rounds.

Some of the merchants along Main street have been assisting in the spring cleanup by sweeping sand to the curb for pickup.

The TOWNSMAN is often found in many places, not the least of which was a 1910 copy found in a most unusual place this past week.

A local contractor working on a house on Essex street, found a June, 1910 copy stuck in the eaves.

Whether the workmen folded it and left it there years ago is, of course, unknown, but it was in sound condition all folded and readable after its many years of storage.

The first robin, or group of same has been reported to the desk.

Greg Hanwalt, 13, 6 Tobey Lane, telephoned that three of the red breasted creatures were cavorting over the back yard this past week.

Along with the actual date for same, surely spring has arrived!

"Fascals," seems to befit those who seek political office.

At least that's what some of our elected officials were referred to at town meeting on Saturday.

When a speaker told the meeting that "we can turn the fascals out," if not satisfied, the term became particularly popular for a few refreshingly change of pace moments.

The officials seemed to accept the term kindly, as it was meant.

Further signs of spring are forthcoming in the daily mail.

Among the items received this week were a guide to roses and the selection of the top plants for the year by the American Rose Growers Association.

Allen H. Morgan, Executive Vice President of the Massachusetts Audubon Society, today said DDT, while not proven an 'imminent hazard to human health', was indeed a grave hazard to environmental health, on which human well-being depends.

His remarks were prompted by a recent action of William D. Ruckelshaus, administrator of the Environmental Protection Agency, who has refused to suspend use of DDT, aldrin, dieldrin, mirex and 2,4,5-T pending an administration review of their safety. The review, ordered to begin immediately, is expected to take a year.

"I'm at least grateful officials in Massachusetts have recognized the harmful effects of DDT - our Massachusetts Pesticide Board banned outdoor use of DDT and 7 other 'hard pesticides' effective December 31, 1969," said Morgan.

Unfortunately, while this evinces responsibility on the part of state officials, it does not save us from the ill effects of DDT. One of the prime properties of DDT is its volatility, it just doesn't stay where it has been sprayed. It drifts through the environment in its poisonous state for years. It's even been found in penguins in the Antarctic, and there has never been a spraying program anywhere near there!"

The barnacle makes a glue that binds together any material, resists all chemicals known to science, softens slightly at 662 degrees F., does not crack or peel at 383 degrees below zero, and 3/10,000ths of an inch provides a sheer strength of over three tons, and holds tighter than yet has been measured, the Massachusetts Audubon Society says.

To the Editor of the Andover school committee March 15 raises a mental question.

How could a community of intelligent people so out of touch with they are elected to serve?

Below is my two-point. It is followed by recommendations intended to trauma.

My first explanation around the word "public" see it, the school committee three public. They of one, not enough of none of the third.

Our committee members much to the school administration. They come to believe educators should make niles solve the world even at the risk of n basics of education.

Our committee members to those parents with axe to grind. It is minority who twist arms to convert a potential institution into tutorial school for the regardless of the cost of the community.

Our committee members dialogue with non-parents though they constitute of the town's voters.

My second explanation the school committee strategic blunder in 14 goals distributed at the last town meeting.

They created their trap with sweeping generalizations unrealistic and even. Once adopted, there treating and the committee hoist with its own want to be all things is a disastrous public cause it leaves no room for "no".

My recommendation

1. Recognize the non-parents by establishing communications in lay language. Incidentally ease the way for when present school dictatorship will be a constitutional on the ground it violates the basic individual.

2. Suspend the 14 immediately, pending a reappraisal of the same.

3. Run a tight ship. enforce the rules not important. The teacher makes the quality of the education. The School Committee agreed with this and had been improving the quality of education in Andover by encouraging the individual strengths and skills on the part of its teachers, providing more training for them; giving them good supervision. The School Committee policy has been to attract the best teachers to Andover not by having the best pay scale but by having the most exciting working conditions.

The Andover School Committee in the last few years has been one whose philosophy was to provide an education in tune with modern methods; an education which made maximum use of the knowledge and skills of its teachers; educational opportunities equal in all sections of town and for all students, not just those with strong academic backgrounds or inclinations; educational opportunities for those with handicaps, both mental and physical. This School Committee believed that universal education has been the strength of our country and will continue so to be. This School Committee believed that it was their duty and the duty of all citizens of Andover to provide the best education the town could afford for its next generation.

Virginia H. Cole

To the Editor of the TOWNSMAN:

The shock administered to the Andover school committee on March 15 raises a very fundamental question.

How could a committee made up of intelligent people have been so out of touch with the public they are elected to serve?

Below is my two-part explanation. It is followed by recommendations intended to avoid future trauma.

My first explanation revolves around the word "public". As I see it, the school committee has three publics. They see too much of one, not enough of the second, none of the third.

Our committeemen listen too much to the school administrators. They come to believe that the educators should make our juveniles solve the world's problems, even at the risk of neglecting the basics of education.

Our committeemen listen mostly to those parents with a scholastic axe to grind. It is a militant minority who twist committee arms to convert a public educational institution into a private tutorial school for their progeny regardless of the cost to the rest of the community.

Our committeemen have no dialogue with non-parents even though they constitute about half of the town's voters.

My second explanation is that the school committee made a strategic blunder in adopting the 14 goals distributed to the public at the last town meeting.

They created their own booby-trap with sweeping goals that are unrealistic and even ridiculous. Once adopted, there is no re-treating and the committee can be hoist with its own petard. To want to be all things to all people is a disastrous public policy because it leaves no room for the word "no".

My recommendations follow:

1. Recognize the existence of non-parents by establishing two-way communications with them in lay language. Incidentally, this will ease the way for that day when present school-committee dictatorship will be declared unconstitutional on the grounds that it violates the basic rights of the individual.

2. Suspend the 14 goals immediately, pending a hard-headed reappraisal of the same.

3. Run a tight ship. Rigorously enforce the rules regarding personal behaviour and respect for public property. Punish non-conforming students. Replace permissive educators.

4. Dispel with facts, if possible, the prevailing apprehension that the more we do for our students, the worse the results.

5. For atrocities committed against our mother tongue, sentence the author(s) of the 14 goals to take a course in high-school English composition.

I suggest that the above will go a long way toward improving the image of the school committee among the total public.

The society urges adults and school children to fill in the gaps in their understanding by attending this film on Tuesday, March 30 at 8 p.m. at the West Junior High. The program will last approximately one hour. There is no admission charge.

There's Activity Aplenty

(A TOWNSMAN News Feature)

"You ought to visit South School's Activity Periods and see what's going on," the TOWNSMAN has been urged by several parents, and a school administrator or two. Then news filters back of boys in the Chef Club, boys and girls in flourishing modern dance groups, a parent directing a student written TV play, activity groups in ceramics, oriental cooking, embroidery, a stamp club, and many more. It turns out that many parents are enthusiastically involved in leading the activities at the school. It seems worth a look, with a camera. Off to South School, after a phone call to Principal Jack Coyle.

Principal Coyle explains that the Activity Periods are a partial implementation of one of the administration's long range goals -- to have each Andover student spend some fraction of his time at school actively pursuing an interest of his own, in addition to the work the school asks him to do. Superintendent Dr. Kenneth R. Seifert maintains that this is not only a reasonable goal on its own terms, but will benefit the student's motivation and attitude toward school and the educational program.

All intermediates (4th, 5th and 6th graders) at South are presently involved in Activity Periods. The intermediates are divided into two teams -- Intermediate A and B -- for educational purposes, and each of these teams has its activity period, once a week, when the children spend the hour after lunch in an activity of their choice.

What's the choice? A real spectrum. It depends on what the children suggest, and the school parents and staff of each team can provide leadership for, but just about anything that a half dozen or more kids want to do, the school has been able to set up, under the general coordination of South School Parent Mrs. James Wilson. The Intermediate As have gone in big for cooking. Mrs. Beltracchi and Mrs. Livingston lead one cooking group; Mrs. Spaulding and Miss Baccari lead a Chef's Club for boys, while Mrs. Liang and Mrs. Judy Russell have a group that specializes in oriental cooking.

George Edmonds, of the PA Outing Club leads an outdoor group, and Mrs. Richard Katz, an AVIS board member, and Mrs. Christopher Cook lead the nature club. Miss Maynard has a knitting group, and another group of girls wants to do crocheting -- with Mrs. Foster as their leader. Mrs. Mattheson leads an embroidery group.

Mrs. Blumberg, a South School teacher, leads a ceramics class, with the help of high school assistants. Mrs. Max Russell has started another group that is interested in learning French while Mrs. Berkitt has others learning to type. Mrs. Perlowski and Mrs. Swift lead a dramagroup, and Mrs. Gorianski teaches art. Mrs. George Kwass and Mrs. Nason have been teaching modern dance to a group of boys and girls in both Intermediate A and B.

The activities chosen by the Intermediate B team, a slightly older group, concentrate larger numbers of children in slightly fewer categories of interest. Some are working in arts and crafts, under Mrs. Starkweather and Mrs. Wilton.

Thomas Lyons was director of a group of boys who have written their own plays for TV videotaping. Mr. Raymond serves as head of an enthusiastic stamp club. Mrs. Gender and Mrs. Jacobo teach embroidery to the Intermediate Bs. Principal Coyle leads a good sized square dancing group, and Guidance Counselor Tom McKenna heads up the Chess Club, and is mentor of the Carbohydrates, a rock band which video taped its latest compositions a couple of weeks ago.

The enthusiasm of the children was evident in the last meeting of the second session of activities. Every six weeks or so, the gears shift, a session comes to the end, and children have a chance to regroup, or continue in the same interest group for another session. On that day, the modern dance group was putting on an end-of-session show for the other students -- their own idea. A group of boys dramatized a pool game, with one boy being the pool ball, and the other reacting to him, being knocked over, caroming about as he came to them. Across the hall, there were quiet rooms, where girls embroidered, or an arts and crafts group worked, and the stamp club voted on the best member's display, for a prize of stamps. The TV video-tape camera was busy filming the completed play, and recording a session with the Carbohydrates. Down the hall in the cafeteria, Principal Jack Coyle was calling "Allemande left!" for the square dances, and showing them how to swing your partner. The children were completely absorbed in their own interests.

How do the parents feel about it? Said Mrs. George Kwass, who appears weekly in leotard to help the modern dancers: "It's great. You don't have to fight discipline, because the kids are there because they're interested. We were pleased at the boys' reaction to modern dance. They were really ready to give their all, and were very creative. My own son is in the stamp club and is so interested he spends a lot of time at home on it."

"I think it's very important for people nowadays to develop interests and to learn how to use leisure time. And there's no doubt about it, the Activity Periods make them like school better."

Free Church Co-Op Pre-School was held Tuesday, March 16 at Christ Church. The meeting was well attended by interested parents and friends of both organizations.

After a brief introduction by Elaine Viehmann, teaching director of the Christ Church Nursery School, the movie "Early Recognition of Learning Disability" was shown, which outlined some of the ways in which children's learning disabilities become apparent as they move through the elementary grades.

Following the movie, Mrs. Dee Johnson, director of the Free Church Co-Op Pre-School, introduced Mrs. Charles Leigh, a qualified tutor of young people with learning disabilities. Formerly a tutor in the Andover school system, Mrs. Leigh is now associated with the Brooks School in North Andover. She discussed recognition of, and methods of dealing with, these disabilities.

During the brisk question and answer period which ensued, Mrs. Leigh detailed the ways in which these disabilities are handled in the Andover school system.

A meeting of similar interest is planned for the near future.

Greenhouse Cucumbers Arrive

Native greenhouse cucumbers, fresh, mild, unwaxed and full of flavor, are in heavy supply this week, according to the Mass. Dept. of Agriculture, and they definitely rate current Best Buy status.

Grown under ideal climatic conditions, with temperature and humidity exactly right, the new crop is one of the best in years. Compared to ordinary, waxed, cucumbers, prices for the fresh cukes are most reasonable. You can tell the greenhouse variety by its bright green appearance, and absence of sticky or slippery wax on the skin.

Different, too, is the fact that greenhouse cukes, being extremely mild as well as unpreserved, do not "repeat"; they create virtually no tummy-bubbles. They can, and should, be eaten unpeeled. The skin is full of vitamins.

Butternut squash from nearby farms is plentiful, and of excellent quality. Priced some ten cents a pound less than at this time last year, it is another Best Buy this week.

Despite a winter with somewhat less-than-average sunshine, our local growers have come up with a big crop of potted mums, available at flower shops throughout the state. The heavy production indicates Best Buy rating.

Crisp-air apples from Massachusetts orchards, after their winter's sleep in controlled atmosphere storage, wait for you now at produce counters, tasting as good as the day they left the trees. McIntosh, Cortland and Red Delicious are in bumper supply, and prices suggest that this is a good time to stock up.

Cucumber Cream Salad: Mrs. William E. Porter of Lexington, whose husband is one of the state's largest greenhouse growers of cucumbers, offers one of her favorite recipes using unpeeled cukes: 1 pint sour cream, tiny white onions, 1/4 - 1/3 cup blue cheese (crumbled), fresh greenhouse cucumbers (3).

Crumble blue cheese into sour cream. Slice and add tiny white onions to taste. Salt and pepper to taste. Just before serving, slice unpeeled cucumbers and toss. Serves four.

Watson Honored As Coach

Sidney J. (Sid) Watson, varsity hockey coach at Bowdoin College, has been named National College Division Coach of the Year for the second consecutive year.

His election was announced at the annual banquet of the American Hockey Coaches Assn., whose membership voted the honor to Watson.

The veteran Bowdoin coach, whose 1970-71 hockey team turned in a sparkling 19-4-1 record, was awarded the Edward Jeremiah Memorial Trophy, named in memory of the late Dartmouth coach.

The Spencer Penrose Award, which goes to the Coach of the Year in the University Division, was presented to Ralph (Cooney) Weiland of Harvard.

Watson, whose Bowdoin ice squads have finished at the top of the ECAC Division II (small college) standings for the last three years, has a Bowdoin 12-season hockey record of 151 wins, 99 losses and 5 ties. His record-breaking 1970-71 team won the ECAC Division II championship play-offs, defeating Vermont 5-4 in overtime.

In the 1969-70 season, when Bowdoin won 19 and lost 3, the Polar Bears became the first team in ECAC history to go through a regular Division II schedule undefeated. Watson was named then as the first National College Division Coach of the Year, and for the second consecutive year received the Clark Hodder Award as New England Hockey Coach of the Year.

A native of Andover, and a former Northeastern University sports standout, Watson joined the Bowdoin athletic staff in 1959 after a distinguished professional football career as a halfback with the Pittsburgh Steelers and Washington Redskins. His varsity hockey teams at the Brunswick, Maine, liberal arts college have consistently been among the top small college squads in the East.

Watson was elected Eastern Small College Coach of the Year in 1966 in a United Press International poll of Eastern hockey coaches.

In addition to his hockey duties, Sid is varsity golf coach and an assistant coach of football. Sid is a former member of the Board of Governors of the American College Hockey Coaches Assn. and has served as its Secretary - Treasurer. He is also a member of the NCAA Ice Hockey Rules and Tournament Committee.

BUSINESS PROFILES*Springtime Is Trimtime At SlimlineThis year's spring and summer fashions call for the slim look.
If you have a figure problem, make an appointment right now at Slimline Slenderizing Salon. In comfortable, private surroundings, you can lose inches without strenuous exercise, without tiring calisthenics, without dangerous crash diets, and without even disrobing. Proof positive of this is Jane Horner (above) who in just 10 sessions at Slimline has lost 10-1/2 inches and 13 lbs.Slimline's unique method of muscle toning through semi-passive exercise is accomplished through the use of several different pieces of exercise equipment, each extremely effectivefor different purposes. One machine alone offers an easy way to do sit-ups, firms up the abdomen, waist, flabby muscles, and loose flesh on the legs. Four additional pieces of equipment offer similar, wonderful results.Slimline's equipment is designed to firm and tone, but will not develop unfeminine muscles.
Remember this is not a gym. These machines give you the same benefit as exercising on your own, but with so much less exertion, they are recommended by many doctors. In addition, Slimline features a complete Sauna, imported from Finland, with private showers and dressing rooms. The dry heat offered by the Sauna relieves ten-sions, helps in weight control and contributes to restful sleep.This modern slenderizing salon

Ecologists To Amend Article

Proposers of Article 62, to prohibit the sale of non-returnable soft drink and beer bottles and cans will present an amendment to their article when it comes up at Town Meeting, stating that any non-returnable (throwaway) bottle or can can be made a returnable container by the retailer, simply by charging a minimum of 4¢ deposit, and honoring the container's return.

What does this mean as to the intent and the effect of the by-law to prohibit non-returnable bottles? What would it mean to the Andover consumer?

Elaine Katz, a proponent of Article 62, told the TOWNSMAN the purpose of the article remains the same - to cut down on the solid waste and litter problem by prohibiting the sale of one-way bottles in Andover. But the amendment makes it possible for Andover retailers to continue to sell, and Andover consumers to buy, certain beverages which are not at this time available in returnable containers. She said that Article 62 will, however, act as a lever to move manufacturers and retailers to make items in returnable containers more available in Andover, for their own convenience's sake.

What would a retailer do with a six-pack of throwaway containers his customer has just brought back, for his deposit, or as a deposit on the next six-pack?

That's the beauty of this amendment," Mrs. Katz stated. Instead of going to the dump, mixed up with the rest of the family trash, the bottles and cans will be isolated in bins at the retailers, where they can be profitably picked up by anyone with a truck, and sold to recycling plants. She pointed out that at least one man in Andover is making extra money now out of good ecology practice, by trucking cans from private homes to a recycling plant in Medford. A glass recycling plant has just opened in Dayville, Conn. The year before the Article 62 by-law would go into effect would allow plenty of time for private enterprise in Andover to make arrangements with retailers, Mrs. Katz said.

The 4¢ minimum deposit is to make it worthwhile for people to return the bottles, instead of throwing them in the trash or out the car window, so they will be recycled. The deposit also brings it home to consumers what they may have forgotten, Mrs. Katz pointed out, that beverages in returnable bottles are cheaper.

"What we hoped is that all manufacturers return to returnable bottles in New England, for good economy and good ecology.

Why "in New England"? Because it is New England, and the rest of the Atlantic seaboard that the "throwaway" bottle has become the rule instead of the exception, as any local bottler can tell you.

In other parts of the country, the majority of the bottles are still returnable, and in some parts of the country the unreturnable bottle is virtually unknown. Co-op Manager Ray Fuller says the Co-op hung on to returnable bottles longer than other stores in town, and suffered losses in that department until they switched. New Englanders evidently don't want the bother of returning, just to save a little money, blasting the image of the industrious thrifty New Englander. Fuller's not for the Andover-only article, but said he would be for it, if it were state wide. He suggests an article forbidding people to take non-returnable bottles to the dump.

Mrs. Katz points out that the state legislature, which has similar and other anti-pollution bills before it, is watching Andover's action on Article 62 closely. It will be important if the legislature can see, by our vote, that a town will elect to go back to returnable bottles. It's got to start somewhere. Sure, there's going to be some inconvenience to us all by passing this article, consumers and retailers. But we feel we pay more for throwaway containers three ways. We pay more when you buy them; we pay more to have them hauled away, and we pay more to buy more dump space. "We want to show that one town is willing to do something about this."

Perhaps things are moving faster than the Article 62 proponents realize. Andover's Purity Save-Mor supermarket couldn't give a policy statement on the Article 62 amendment, but revealed that Purity was preparing right now to switch to returnable bottles for all of its own brand of soft drinks. The assistant manager said he had learned at the last area meeting that they were almost ready to start.

"The other bottlers realize too. They can't fight it, though it may take them longer to switch. But that's what they're talking about in their meetings, and it will happen. It's the coming thing," the assistant manager told the TOWNSMAN Wednesday.

McQuade Appointed

Robert McQuade, public works director, has been named as Andover's representative on the Greater Lawrence Regional Sanitary District commission.

He replaced Roy E. Coombs, who has resigned due to transfer of employment.

The commission is planning the sewer treatment plant to clean up the Merrimack River.

Kindergarten Registration

Registration for the 1971-1972 Shawsheen Elementary School Kindergarten class will take place on Tuesday, April 6. Parents who have not previously registered their children, are asked to call the Shawsheen Elementary School for an appointment. Mrs. V. Kane, the school nurse, and Mrs. R. Miller, the school dental hygienist, will be on hand to help the parents with the medical and dental forms.

In order to complete the registration procedure, birth certificates are required for verification of age. Andover School policy requires that a child be five years old on or before January 1, 1972.

An orientation program for these children and previously registered children will be conducted later in the school year.

NO ONE HAS TO SMOKE

Thousands of people now studying Christian Science have quit smoking.

And they didn't use candy, gum, or will-power to do it.

They turned, instead, to God for help. And through Him they found happiness and satisfaction they never really got from smoking.

On Sundays and Wednesdays they attend Christian Science church services with others who rely on God for practical answers to life's problems. You are welcome to come, too.
